

Press Release

25 October 2017

News: Simon Mason invites visitors to explore the new KEMAT website

Brussels, Belgium – 25 October 2017. KEMAT the leading European supplier of polybutenes and related products, announces their newly designed website offering the ultimate user-friendly experience.

KEMAT's new website has been created to deliver the ultimate user-friendly experience. Enhanced navigation and functionality provides visitors access to detailed information. To help customers understand KEMAT's complete range of products, the site includes applications and technical data. These in turn provide an overview of KEMAT's capabilities across a wide range of sectors including: lubricants and greases; plastics, rubbers and cling films; sealants, adhesives and coatings; cosmetics and skin care.

Also viewable on the site are regular updates on Company news and events as well as opportunities for employment and commercial partnerships.

Simon Mason, KEMAT's Managing Director commented: "Please do come along and visit our website, you are welcome, be my guest. I am delighted with the fresh look and feel of it. The growing demand for our products as well as the expansion of KEMAT, means that our website is of paramount importance. We have therefore invested in a new style with advanced technology."

Designed with the user experience in mind, the website has been created using the latest technology so that it is compatible with today's browsers and mobile devices.

Visit www.kematbelgium.com and sign up to our upcoming Newsletter.

227 words

About KEMAT

KEMAT is a privately held company founded in 1989, operating globally with an expanding portfolio. It is the largest independent distributor of polyisobutylenes and related products in the EMEA region.

Having built up an expertise in the supply of additives to the lubricants industry, KEMAT has expanded over the years to supply a wide range of additives to a diverse customer base across a multitude of different industry segments.

Unparalleled experience and insights into PIB markets and applications. Supplier relationships of 28 years.

Centralised distribution centre in the heart of Europe with readily available stock across all grades. KEMAT has a wide range of high quality PIBs, bulk tank containers, IBCs and drum packaging as well as a drumming facility.

KEMAT continues to build its strength and reputation on providing timely deliveries of high quality products at competitive prices and giving personal attention to both supplier and customer requirements.

For more information, please visit www.kematbelgium.com

Sales Office

Everest Office Park, Leuvensesteenweg 248 D,
1800 Vilvoorde, Belgium

Headquarters

Rue de la Sablonnière 7,
1000 Brussels, Belgium

T +32 2 219 48 11